REPLY TO GERMANS GIVES UNTIL NOON SATURDAY TO SIGN

Allied Troops Are Ready For Invasion In Event Of Refusal

REPORTS FINISHED

Council Saturday 'Ended Work On Answer Which Was Made Yesterday

MANDATE REFUSED

Request Of Teutons For Control Of Colonies She Held Is Rejected

(French Wireless To Reuter)

Paris, June 15.—(Via Lyons and Koukaza).—The Council of Four finished on Saturday the text of its reply to the German counter-proposals.

The Commission, which sat the whole day under the presidency of M. Clemenceau, finished the drawing up of the text, most of which has been sent to the National Printing Office.

The reply of the Allies will be handed at noon tomorrow to the German Delegation.

The Allies will demand from Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau an acknowledgement of receipt which will give the hour at which the reply will be handed over. A delay of five days will be granted to the German Delegation to make known whether Germany accepts or declines the conditions laid down by the Entente.

Date And Hour Fixed

It should be noted that this delay includes the three days' notice to denounce the armistice. Consequently the Germans will have up to noon on June 21 to sign the Treaty.

In the event of a refusal, the Allied troops are in readiness immediately to resume their advance into Germany.

Foch In Luxemburg

Luxemburg, June 15.—(Via Lyons and Koukaza).—Marshal Foch will arrive here tomorrow morning.

Makino Joins Council Making Body Of Five

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

Paris, June 12.—Baron Makino has joined the Council of Four, which hereafter will be styled the Council of Five.

Baron Makino was a signatory of the note to Admiral Koltchak.

The decision to give Baron Makino a seat on the Council was due to the necessity to give Japan an opportunity for full concurrence in the full Conference. It is expected that his entry to the Council necessitated rearranging the entire reply to the Germans article by article.

Reply Is Completed

Paris, June 12.—The Allied reply to the German counter-proposals is complete. Agreements in principle have been reached on all points.

Rantzau Ready To Leave

Paris, June 12.—It is still hoped that the Allies' reply to the German counter-proposals will be ready tomorrow.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau is said to have made plans to leave Versailles and go, with the reply, to Cologne, where he will confer with the members of the German Government. His journey to Cologne is interpreted in some circles as indicating his intention to allow some other German plenipotentiary to sign the Treaty in his place.

It appears now that no concession will be granted to Germany concerning the fundamental clauses of the Treaty.

The Turkish delegation arrived at Vaucresson this morning, without any ceremony. It consists of Ferid Pasha, Tewfik Pasha, Sazim Pasha and Fachas Alim Bey.

Finances Are Discussed

Versailles, June 11.—A financial conference has been held between the Allied and German Delegates to the Peace Conference.

Calls Terms Death Sentence

Vienna, June 7.—At an extraordinary session of the National Assembly to consider the Peace Terms, President Seitz said it was a death sentence for German-Austria.

Bauer, the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said the loss of German Bohemia not only meant the subjection of 3½ million Germans to foreign dominion but the loss of the most valuable parts of German-Austria, both industrially and agriculturally. He declared that a Nationalist State formed by violence would be a constant danger to Peace.

Tells Of Other Treaty

Herr Bauer added: "Months ago we submitted to the Italian Government the draft of a Treaty under which German South Tyrol would remain with us constitutionally and economically but would be neutralised from a military point of view." He hoped that the Italian Government, which hitherto had not been able to enter into direct negotiations, would not refuse to discuss the proposals at St. Germain.

Herr Bauer referred to the danger of an Irredenta in German South Tyrol, remarking that the German people might hope gradually to win Italy's friendship but it would be a misfortune to both if the annexation of German South Tyrol prevented it.

Regarding the Carinthian and Syrian frontier questions and West Hungary, the Austrian Peace Delegates would propose a plebiscite under neutral control.

Market Place, St Thomas, Virgin Islands

The Virgin Islands, in the West Indies, purchased by the United States from Denmark in 1911, are fast becoming Americanised. American customs and sanitation are being introduced by the United States naval official in charge there. The islands were purchased largely because St. Thomas, the most important of the group of three, offered a natural base for the protection of the Panama Canal. The other islands are St. Croix and St. John's. The government of the islands is administered by the Navy Department. Rear-Admiral Joseph Oman recently succeeded Rear-Admiral James H. Oliver as Governor of the islands. The photograph shows a typical market scene on the island of St. Thomas.

POISON HYSTERIA CAUSES INJURIES TO MORE VICTIMS

Three Japanese And Five Chinese Beaten Due To Absurd Reports

7 HURT SUNDAY

Hawkers Forced To Quit Work Because People Fear To Buy

RUMORS BASELESS

Searching Investigation By Police Prove Stories Are All Imaginary

Yesterday added eight persons, five Chinese and three Japanese, to the toll of those injured as a result of the persistent circulation of rumors that Japanese and Chinese in their employ are carrying out a systematic campaign for the poisoning of food, tea and water. One of the Chinese may die. Timely interference by Inspector Wheeler of the Mixed Court saved seven others—prisoners under escort from Chapei to Lunghwa—from being mobbed on Chekiang Road. Some one had circulated the report that the men had been convicted of being the original poisoners.

Sunday saw seven hurt, five Chinese and two Japanese. Chapei police saved five of the men from serious injury.

Sinza, West Hongkew and Hongkew were the districts of the Settlement where mobs vented their wrath on poison suspects yesterday but detectives of other districts were called upon to investigate sundry charges against Japanese and Chinese accused of poisoning wells. The detective department of the Municipal Police has investigated every report and the same result follows each inquiry—there is absolutely no basis for the rumors.

Despite the efforts of the foreign and Chinese press and the circulation of thousands of handbills by the police, Chinese will believe the rumors and are convinced that the Japanese are carrying on a poisonous campaign.

Hawkers Quit Business

A dangerous state of affairs is resulting. Many hawkers have been forced out of business because people refuse to buy their foodstuffs; proprietors of foodshops in Tsepoo Road in the West Hongkew District have adorned their doors with notices to the effect that they are no longer responsible for the food sold on the premises, thus adding fuel to the flames, and many Chinese families have gone on a diet of salt pork and salt fish; they refuse to eat anything that comes from the markets. All sorts of ingenious methods are being accredited to the Japanese, who they believe are carrying on the poison campaign and the Chinese simply will not believe that the reports are baseless.

The rumors are the cause of continuing the present unrest. The labor and food situations are again normal. Japanese cotton mills in the Gordon Road District, where over 25,000 Chinese are employed, have resumed full time with all hands at their benches. Rice has dropped twenty cents per picul in two days, dealers quoting $6.40 to $7.40 per picul yesterday. A further drop is expected today. Markets are running normally, beef and mutton are available in any quantity desired.

Japanese School To Reopen

The Japanese School on North Szechuen Road will open this morning, according to the Nichi Nichi. The newspaper prints a report of the meeting of the Japanese Residents' Corporation at which resolutions were passed to open the school and asking the protection of the Consulate in the event of trouble.

The same meeting passed a resolution asking the Consulate to take steps to secure the punishment of those who have assaulted Japanese during the rioting of last week, the Nichi Nichi continues.

Several schools in Chapei and the Settlement reopened yesterday despite the circulation of handbills urging students to remain away from their studies until the strike is officially called off by the Students' Union. All the schools are running as before with the exception of the Ellis Kadoorie School on Shanhaikwan Road, where but 79 of the 400 students reported for classes.

Suspected Poisoner May Die

The most serious of the attacks on suspected poisoners during the last 24 hours occurred in West Hongkew District about 8:30 o'clock last night. A Chinese coolie is expected to die, so badly was he beaten and kicked by the crowd, while another Chinese and a Japanese were sent to hospitals by the police.

The Japanese was standing before a tea kong on Paoshan Road, near Honan Road, when some Chinese circulated the report that he was awaiting the proper moment to poison the tea. He was attacked and when he ran to Boundary Road, was chased by a portion of the crowd.

Others attacked his servant, who was riding a bicycle slowly behind his employer. A third Chinese, unknown, was also injured. Before police could rescue the Japanese and his coolie, the latter was unconscious. Doctors at St. Luke's Hospital said late last night that he was expected to die. The second Chinese was sent to St. Luke's where he was detained for the night but his injuries are not serious.

Four Hurt In Sinza District

Two Chinese who entered a drug store on Burkill Road, one in the morning and another in the afternoon, were accused of obtaining poison and they were attacked by crowds. Police on duty rescued them before they were injured seriously.

Last evening two Japanese were attacked on the north end of Stone Bridge Road, fled across the bridge and were attacked on the other side by a second crowd. They were ushered to the Sinza Police Station by Sikh and Chinese constables and allowed to go home after their wounds were dressed.

A Chinese was assaulted on North Soochow Road, near the General Hospital, early yesterday afternoon He was badly bruised about the head and body and was unconscious when a Chinese constable arrived and dispersed the crowd. The injured man, Yui Sung-poh, proprietor of a fruit shop, is at the St. Luke's Hospital. He, too, was accused of poisoning food.

Because a silver hair pin turned black in a pot of boiling rice, Chinese living on Tsepoo Road believed that the rice was poisoned and attempted to wreck the rice shop at 306-307 Tsepoo Road. While police kept the crowd at a respectable distance, the proprietor of the shop ate some of the rice to prove that it was not poisoned.

Chapei Police Rescue Six

Chapei police rescued two Japanese and four Chinese from crowds late Sunday afternoon. Toshuo Hasegawa and two Chinese were attacked on North Honan Road Extension at 4:30 o'clock and thirty minutes later one, Takigawa a resident of Hongkew, and two Chinese who were accompanying him, were injured before the military police could rescue them. Three Chinese were arrested.

To Revoke Martial Law In Nantao

The proclamation for martial law in Nantao and Chapei will be vacated today by order of General Lu Yunghsiang, the local Defense Commissioner.

After being suppressed since last Wednesday, the Students' Unions' Daily, the organ of the Students' Union, again made its appearance yesterday. It now has its office at 14 Yu Yang Lee, Avenue Joffre.

Tokio 'Official' Reports Tell What Really Happened

The Japan Advertiser received "official" news of the happenings in Shanghai. The following, taken from the Advertiser of June 12, explains in detail just what "officially" occurred here:

Shanghai, June 10.—(Official).—The anti-Japanese movement here suddenly grew worse yesterday and the Municipal Council has decided to take positive measures against the rioters. On June 9, a volunteer's corps, as well as the police, was summoned at 4 in the evening and swept away the Chinese students in the Japan Concession, declaring in the meantime the state of siege in the Chinese city.

On account of these drastic measures taken by the Municipal Council, not a single Chinese student in uniform has since been found in the Japanese Concession, although it seems that some are still remaining there under disguise.

All the Chinese workmen in the Japanese concerns and factories have gone out on strike, the greater number of these being obliged to suspend business.

Shanghai, June 10.—(Official).—The anti-Japanese riot here which has lately been deteriorated to a sort of anti-foreign agitation the second Boxers trouble, as it were, no end is known. As the Volunteer Corps as well as the Police have found it beyond their power to subdue the riotous students and laborers, the Japanese men-of-war laying at anchor here have been obliged to land a certain number of marines so that they may protect the property and life of the Japanese colonies.

Since yesterday morning the anti-Japanese agitation has set about expelling all the foreigners from here, and the mobs have seized the British-American Tobacco Company's premises and those of Kelly and Walsh, a bookstore. Their anti-foreign movement is rapidly extended.

Osaka Mainichi Good, Too

The Osaka Mainichi printed the following on June 10:

"It is impossible to describe the anti-Japanese situation in Shanghai. As many as 500 Japanese schoolchildren have been beaten in broad daylight. From this one may have an idea of the situation regarding others. The primary school is now closed. The Shanghai Japanese Consulate is in serious danger. The other day it had a taste of the bomb of the students' union. It is impossible to say what will happen next."

Echoes Of Strike Heard At Mixed Court Session

A Chinese named Tsha Ah-foh was sentenced to six months' imprisonment by the Mixed Court yesterday for assaulting a coolie near the Kashing Road bridge on Sunday. The assaulted man, who was accused of scattering poison, is a returned member of the Labor Battalions.

A houseboy named Ho Yue was given six months for being one of the ringleaders in an assault on a garbage coolie on Seward Road last Thursday. The complainant stated that he had found a small rubber bottle in a refuse bin and was washing it at a tap in an alleyway off Seward Road when the cry was raised that he was poisoning the water.

A remand of two weeks was given in the case of Sun Ling-hai, charged with being one of the mob which assaulted Mr. Benbow Rowe's cook and gardener near Edinburgh Road on last Wednesday when the complainants were accused of poisoning water.

The Chinese charged with obstruction of Police Sergeant Robertson while the latter was executing his duty during the Shantung Road disorder was given one month's imprisonment when the case was concluded before Assessor Grant Jones and Magistrate Kwan in the Mixed Court yesterday.

Inquest Is Concluded

The inquest over the body of Chou Kwei-sheng, the Chinese shoemaker killed in the Shantung Road fracas of last Thursday night, was concluded before Assessor Grant Jones and Magistrate Kwan yesterday, when the action of the police was strongly upheld and the instance was pointed to as a warning.

The verdict returned was to the effect that the deceased was killed by a bullet wound inflicted by a police officer in suppression of a civil commotion.

"I deem it my duty to add," said the Assessor, after the verdict has been given, "that, in my opinion, the police of all ranks behaved on this occasion with great patience and fortitude; that the action of Chief Inspector Vaughan was entirely justified and probably prevented a more dangerous outburst of this bestial, and apparently anti-foreign, ferocity. And I trust that this and other unfortunate incidents will serve as a warning to all classes of the community of the dangers that lurk in such demonstrations as we have recently witnessed. For such occasions are invariably utilised by the loafer class—and I refer not only to the pilfering loafers of our streets but also to the political loafers of every description who infest these Settlements—to further their own nefarious ends, with the inevitable result of the effusion of blood."

"I agree with the learned Assessor," added the magistrate.

National Organisation Of Students Formed At Meeting Held Here

An inauguration meeting of the National Federation was held at the Great Eastern Hotel yesterday afternoon. Eleven foreign guests and 116 students and representatives of the various organisations at Shanghai attended. Mr. S. P. Tuan, a student from the Peking Students' Union, presided.

Speeches were made by Mr. Huang Yen-pei, vice-president of the Kiangsu Educational Association; Mr. Ho Paojen, president of the Shanghai Chapter; Mr. Zao Zoong-hui, editor of the Republican Daily News; Mr. Shen Chu-ting, representing the labor interests in Shanghai, and Mr. Tang Ping-poo, who spoke in English. Several foreign guests also spoke.

Notes Of The Strike

Three Japanese destroyers, the Matsukaze, Shirayaki and Nowaki, arrived here from Sasebo on Sunday afternoon and left yesterday morning. The Chitose remains here with the Suma. Both the Chitose and Suma are cruisers.

Guards at the slaughter house and power stations have been discontinued, the volunteers going off duty yesterday morning at six o'clock.

That the boycott is to be maintained is seen from the circulation of thousands of handbills yesterday remainding Chinese that that they should not deal with Japanese.

A new students' daily, published at Nanyang Commercial School, Hardoon Road, made its initial appearance yesterday.

STRIKE OFF IN SUNGKIANG

(China Press Correspondence)

Sungkiang, June 14.—Following Shanghai's good example, the strike was declared off here Thursday afternoon. All classes were much interested in the movement and though there was some enthusiasm, still things were done in decency and order. There was no clash with the authorities. The chief of police was reported to have made some remarks as to what he would do to the students under certain circumstances, but there was no unpleasant happening.

Yesterday was the big day. In the afternoon twenty or more schools were represented in a parade which went forth to thank the merchants for their help. Both girls and boys marched in the procession. As the Kiangsoo Provincial Middle School No. 3 had gone into summer vacation this week, that school had a smaller representation than it ordinarily would have had.

Teachers and representatives of a large number of schools stopped in the compound of the Soochow University Bible School, where they rested and drank tea preparatory to taking up the farther march to the western suburbs. It looks now as though things would settle down to normal conditions, save that the people do not seem to have any idea of letting up on the boycott of things Japanese.

BOLSHEVISTS REPORTED EVACUATING DVINSK

Martial Law Being Rigorously Enforced In Petrograd, Stockholm Hears

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

Copenhagen, June 12.—A Lithuanian wireless message says that the Bolshevists are evacuating Dvinsk under pressure and are retreating to Smolensk.

Conditions In Petrograd Bad

Stockholm, June 7.—A message from Petrograd states that martial law is being very rigorously enforced in Petrograd; all the cafes, theaters and cinemas are closed and espionage is rampant.

Zinovieff, in a speech, exhorted all proletarians to watch not only tte bourgeoisie but their own ranks, owing to the presence of a great number of counter-revolutionaries.

Part of the High Seas Fleet is stationed at the mouth of the Neva and it is believed that the Bolshevists intend to sink these ships in case of attack in order to block the entrance. It seems the Bolshevists have now decided to defend Petrograd.

Troops Leave Ufa

Omsk, June 14.—Ufa has been evacuated by the Government troops, which have taken up a position at the junction of the Ufa and Belaya rivers immediately south of the town. No further particulars are available. The news has not yet been officially announced.

Attacks Are Reported

Helsingfors, June 8.—The Finnish General Staff reports a series of Bolshevist attacks against their frontier outposts. It says that the enemy was expelled from eleven frontier districts in the province of Viborg on the sixth and concludes, "We have declared a state of war."

Explanation Is Offered

London, June 9.—In connection with the Helsingfor's message sent earlier, Reuter's Agency learns from a Finnish official source that the expression "declared a state of war" does not mean that Finland has declared war against the Bolshevists, but merely that Finland has declared martial law in the region concerned.

British Advancing

Helsingfors, June 8.—The British have begun to advance along the Murman railway.

Activity In Siberia

Harbin, June 14.—A group of armed Bolshevists on the night of the 6th attacked the railway tunnel two versts from Pogranichnaia station, their evident intention being to murder the guards and blow up the tunnel. The shots fired were heard at the station, from which reinforcements were sent to the tunnel, the Bolshevists fleeing on their approach.

It was reported from the Maritime Province on the 9th that the Bolshevists had attacked and occupied the siding at Kraevskala, despite the presence of American soldiers. The Bolshevik leader, Tumanoff, gave the railway employes twenty-four hours in which to quit the station building and then proceeded to telegraph to all the stations on the line calling on the railway employes to join the Bolshevist movement.

Train Is Wrecked

An accident has occurred to the express-train from Vladivostok to Omsk 54 versts from Vladivostok, where the Bolshevists in many places have unscrewed the rails.

The general situation in the Maritime Province is considered to be very serious and to require urgent measures to improve the organisation guarding the railway.

Offensive Is Planned

Omsk, June 13.—The Siberians are actively preparing to advance from Glasoff towards Viatka. The forests in the vicinity of Glasoff are full of deserters from the Red Guards.

The Western army has taken up a defensive position along the Belaya River. Ufa is still being bombarded and desultory fighting with varying success is proceeding along the whole front. The Bolshevist counter-drive against the Western army collapsed owing to heavy withdrawals to reinforce their Southern army, whose position is serious owing to General Denikin's advance.

ATTACK ON CHINPUTANG MADE BY ANFU ORGAN

Connection Seen In Charges Of Paper And Those In Leaflet Police Discovered

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 12.—The Kung Yen Pao, the leading supporter of the Anfu Club, severely attacks the Chinputang in this morning's issue, in an article headed "You traitors to the railways are most anxious to secure the post of Minister of Communications." The paper also refers to Messrs. Hsiung Hsi-ling, Wang Tuh-hsieh and Lin Chang-min as having sold China's railways. This charge appearing in the Anfu Club's supporting organ as well as in the leaflets mentioned elsewhere is significant. There is not the slightest justification for connecting the Chinputang with the inception of the railway unification scheme.

Proposals Regarding Tibet

As regards the Tibetan negotiations it is learned that the Government recently made proposals to the British Legation in connection with Tibet. These proposals were forwarded to the British Foreign Office. No reply has yet been received from the Foreign Office and the British Legation has not made any proposals or suggestions to the Chinese Government.

The leaflets aroused considerable surprise in diplomatic circles, not only on account of the vicious nature of their contents but also because of the very obvious source of their origin. Nothing filthier has come to light in recent times.

The President of the Senate and the Chairman of the House of Representatives sent a circular telegram to the provinces yesterday saying that the President had forwarded a document with an official seal expressing the will to resign. It appeared to them that in accordance with the spirit of the administrative organisation, under the Provisional Constitution responsibility for diplomatic and domestic policies rests with the Cabinet.

No Legal Provision

There was no legal provision for the resignation of the President in the event of the Government's policy being mistakenly discharged. Furthermore the said document did not possess the counter-signatures of the Cabinet and must be regarded as ineffective at law. Therefore, it was handed back to the President.

The situation in Peking today is much easier. The militarists have made no fresh move, and the opinion is growing that they realise that their troops could not be depended upon at a pinch. Indeed there is reason to believe that disaffection is rife among the troops and that any move calling for action would entail as much danger to the promoter as to the intended opponent.

Wang I-Tang Named

Peking, June 15.—It is understood that the Anfu Club finds Chou Shuimou not ready to carry out their policies and therefore has proposed Wang I-tang as Premier instead. President Hsu Shih-chang insisted that the country would not stand Wang I-tang.

Tuan Chi-jui suggests asking the Powers to raise the embargo on the importation of arms and ammunition, to which Cheng Li objected, saying that the scarcity of arms greatly benefited China in the recent political crisis. It appears Hsu Shu-tseng says that he cannot leave Peking unless he is supplied with ammunitions.

Suzuki Looks Forward To Era Of Co-operation Of Orient With Occident

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

Atlantic City, June 12.—The Japanese labor leader, Suzuki, addressing the American Labor Convention, declared that the future peace of the world should be guaranteed by the closest co-operation between working-men in all countries. He predicted that co-operation between American and Japanese workmen would bring a new age in international amity and solidarity.

Suzuki's remarks were greeted with prolonged applause, delegates rising to express their approval.

Germany Has Until Saturday To Sign

Marshal Foch at the Ministry of War.

Paris, June 11.—It is declared that the reply to the German counter-proposals refused the request for the mandate over their former colonies.

Reports Are All In

Paris, June 11.—The Council of Four are actually in possession of all the reports and conclusions of the Commissions appointed to examine the various chapters of the German counter-proposals, except the report on economical questions.

The council of five ministers for foreign affairs dealt this morning with the delimitation of the Hungarian frontiers.

The Commission of Reparations and the Commission of Finances examined today the clauses to be inserted in the Treaty of Peace with Bulgaria.

Indemnity Is Fixed

Paris, June 7.—The Big Four are in accord regarding the points on which the Germans are to be met, namely, the question of reparations and certain aspects of the new Polish frontiers. A fixed sum will be named as the total amount for reparations, probably £8,000,000,000 or more. The Polish frontier will now follow the boundary of Pomerania.

The Big Four contemplate summoning the delegates of Bulgaria to Paris, and not to Salonika, but not until the treaties with Germany and Austria have been signed.

Committees End Work

Paris, June 9.—The L'Echo de Paris states that the Committees considering questions concerning the German Colonies, prisoners of war, labor, military and naval clauses, which have already terminated their labors, have decided to reject the German demands.

The Polish Commission, consisting of four members, on which falls the most difficult task of all, is still far from the conclusion of its labors. General Lerond and Senator Lord, the American Delegate, (?) support the orthodox point of view against Headlam-Morley, who favors Mr. Lloyd George's idea of a compromise, which is said to take the form of a plebiscite with adequate guarantees.

Hsu Shih-chang Is Sure To Remain As President

Will Also Name Own Premier Through Anfu Club's Inability To Name Strong Candidate

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking June 13.—President Hsu Shih-chang's resignation, which was returned to him yesterday, is still in his hands, and it becomes more and more evident that he will remain in office, with a firmer grip on the actual control of the Government than he had before. The Anfu Club, having asked him to remain, will be obliged to admit his authority; the militarists for whom the Anfu men are the spokesmen in Parliament, are uncertain of their troops and hence inclined to be conciliatory; and the students have rallied around the President and admitted that he has done his best for the country and that there is no man in sight to take his place.

General Tuan Chi-jui and Wang Yi-iang, the leader of the Anfu Party called upon President Hsu yesterday afternoon and told him that he ought not to think of resigning. The situation was not grave at present, but his resignation might make it so. Hsu replied that he had not satisfied the people in his efforts to handle the Shantung question and the domestic peace problem, but that he would, if necessary, continue his attempts to serve the country.

Hsu has for some time past had trouble with the Anfu Club about signing the Treaty of Paris. When the question of signing the treaty came up the Government consulted the Senate and House leaders of this party, and all hands agreed that China was to sign the treaty without reservation as to Shantung, provided that such action became absolutely necessary. Later the Anfu Party changed its mind and sent a telegram to the Chinese delegation objecting to the signing of the treaty without reservation, thus creating a situation highly embarrassing to the President. The Anfu Club, on the other hand, claimed that Hsu was their man and blamed him for not supporting them in everything they did.

The Premier is still insistent upon having his resignation accepted and if he holds out, the President is reported as willing to accede to his wishes. In this event there are two possibilities for the premiership, first that Hsu will ask Chou Shu-mo, an old friend of his and an official of long standing and good reputation, to form a new cabinet, and second that the Anfu Club may decide that it must control the Cabinet and hence appoint a premier from its own ranks. That Tuan Chi-jui will accept this post is doubtful, as he does not feel that the moment is propitious for his return to office.

The Anfu Club has no strong choice for the post of premier, and President Hsu will, accordingly be left free to make this appointment as he sees fit, provided that he keeps his choice within certain limits. Your correspondent interviewed one of the secretaries at the President's office this morning and was informed that Hsu intended to ask Chou Shu-mo, of Tientsin, to form a new Cabinet, and that Tung Hsin-chan, the present Minister of Finance would act as premier until Chou took up his new duties.

Chou Shu-mo is a man very much of the type of the President, and his record as an official is a good one. He is a graduate of Hanlin Academy, is well versed in the old style culture of the country, and is, in spite of his advanced age, an unusually alert and active man. His political connections are with the Chiaotung Party, which is closely related to the Anfu Club; but he has kept out of politics for several years, so that his political affiliations will, it is thought, neither help nor hinder him.

As for the new Cabinet that Chou Shu-mo is to form, official opinion here is that the Anfu Club, with a president and a premier whom they cannot control as they would like to, will use every bit of influence that it can bring to bear towards getting Anfu men in as heads of the various ministries under Chou. The constitutionalists and the Chinputang group are aware of the Anfu plan and will do their best to get some of their own men in; but the Anfu influence is regarded as strong enough to enable them to fill most of the Cabinet posts that will be vacated.

The difference in efficiency between the steam engine and the stage coach is no greater than that between the very best Roof and the ordinary so-called "Rubber" Roof. It is so easy to accept looks, or toughness, or some other non-essential, that the all-important factor, slowness-to-dry-out, is often given not even a thought.

Of course, slowness-to-dry-out is not an apparent quality. You can't see it. Neither can you learn by any kind, manner or degree of test or analysis whether a Roofing will dry quickly or slowly. Only the test of actual use will tell.

Many people test Roofing by bending or tearing it. Such tests are misleading. Toughness is no proof of Good Roofing. In fact, it is usually a sign of insufficient saturation. On the other hand, don't conclude that much saturation is certain proof—it may be nothing but quick-drying oil.

The sure safe plan is to buy well known and responsibly guaranteed Roofing.

Certain-teed Roofing is used in every civilized country and is known by everyone. It is made by the largest manufacturers of Roofing in the world. The price is less than for other high grade coverings.

Mr. Hayes Is Vindicated In Sharebrokers' Action

Association Loses Suit For Damages Brought Against Former Chairman In British Supreme Court

Judgment, with cost, in favor Mr. J. A. Hayes, defendant in a suit for damages brought by the Shanghai Sharebrokers' Association, was given by Judge Sir Haviland de Sausmarez in the British Supreme Court yesterday.

The claim brought by the Association was for recovery of Tls. 10,259, being securities and cash alleged by the plaintiffs to have been misappropriated by the defendant, then chairman of the Association, at the time of the December settlement, when they were used to aid a member, Mr. F. J. d'Almeida, to meet his obligations.

Sir Haviland's judgment, which covers the case at length, sustains the action which was taken by the defendant, as being the only one which could have averted more serious difficulty than Mr. d'Almeida's inability to meet his obligations and completely exonerates him of the charge of misrepresenting the legality of such action to the committee or members in meeting.

Reviewing the facts of the case, the court stated its opinion that Mr. Hayes' belief that the Association's securities might be used providing the consent of the members was obtained was a natural one. One thing was clear, that it was the only way to raise the money to meet the emergency, the idea of individual contributions having been raised and having failed. Referring to the present committee's announcement that the securities, which were negotiated for the emergency by Mr. Vida, are not negotiable, the court stated that they could not be dealt with but that there was not the least justification for the Association taking this step to protect their property.

Taking up the occurrences at the meeting called to consider d'Almeida's case, Sir Havilland quoted Mr. Hayes' statement that it was necessary to take steps and that the Association must see the settlement through and said he had not the least hesitation in finding that this was the sole motive of the defendant—that the good name of the Association should be assured. The court was convinced that the default of one member, even to the extent of Tls. 8,000, would have brought on a serious crisis in the Association and that the action of the committee was reasonable.

It was evident, the court held, that the others had turned to the defendant and eagerly grasped his solution of the situation and that he had put the matter fully before the meeting and it seemed to the court that the determination of the Association—which did little to help itself—to place the whole of the burden on the defendant's shoulders was a mean return for his efforts in behalf of the members. The judgment concludes:

"On March 11, the plaintiffs issued the writ for this action, thinking no doubt that difficulties of jurisdiction would so hamper this court that they would get their securities back without any expense to themselves. It soon appeared that the defendant was going to fight and to insist on the members honoring the indemnity they had given him. There were those, notably Mr. Meyer, who were ready to honor their bond, but it seems that the defendant's attitude so upset the minds of many who signed that their recollection as to what happened has become peculiarly obscured. The general effect of their evidence upon me was that it was given very much more with an eye to the indemnity which they might be called on to honor than with regard to the facts of the case.

"There is nothing in the conduct of the defendant which will prevent the court from saying that he ought to be relieved, and I shall make the order for which he asks me."

Defendant was allowed the general costs of the action.

MRS. VERNON CASTLE IS BRIDE OF CAPTAIN

Wife Of Dancer Killed In War Married Again In New York

New York, May 7.—Mrs. Vernon Castle was married to Capt. Robert Elias Treman of Ithaca at noon yesterday in the Church of the Transfiguration, familiarly known as the Little Church Around the Corner. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. George Clark Houghton, the pastor.

Mrs. Castle issued numerous denials that she intended to marry Capt. Treman. A few months ago the dancer declared that she would never marry again.

The marriage was the result of a schoolboy and schoolgirl romance, which was interrupted when the girl became a dancer and was married to Vernon Castle, who was killed while serving as an instructor of aviators.

There is a striking similarity of likeness between Capt. Treman and the late Vernon Castle. The former is tall and slender, blond, parts his hair in the middle and is of attractive manners.

Treman's Father Wealthy

Capt. Treman's father is perhaps the wealthiest man in Ithaca which is the family home. He is a political power up-State, and was a close friend of the late Dr. Hubert T. Foote, the father of Mrs. Castle. This friendship began in their college days at Cornell and continued until Dr. Foote's death. It was at the many family reunions of the two chums that Mrs. Vernon Castle and Capt. Treman, the children, developed an ardent attachment.

Irene Foote was pretty and won instant success as a dancer. She married Vernon William Blythe, who was then dancing under the name of Vernon Castle, and they became the most famous dancers in the world. Society took them up, and Castle House was always filled.

Their creations, the Castle glide, the Castle dip and the Castle walk, became the vogue. When Mrs. Castle bobbed her hair the "Castle cut" was imitated by many young women.

With the war, Vernon Castle joined the Royal Flying Corps, where his previous mechanical skill quickly won his advancement. He played a brave part in the struggle in France as a flyer, and was then sent to a Texas flying field to instruct young Americans. There he was killed in a fall.

They Meet Again

Capt. Treman met Mrs. Castle, after her husband's death, while she was working at her moving pictures on Cayuga Lake. He went to France soon after, and Mrs. Castle followed him overseas to engage in war relief work.

Mrs. Elrey Foote, her mother, gave away the bride. Her attendant was Mrs. Clement Amory of Morris Heights, who was attended by Mrs. Castle three years ago.

Those present at the ceremony were Major Sherman Peer, best man; Capt. John M. Gauntlet of Ithaca, Henry Palmer of Geneva and Henry Lewis of Elmira, classmates of the bridegroom; Miss Katherine Schurman, daughter of President Schurman of Cornell University; Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Fuertes and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Treman, the bridegroom's parents.

Mrs. Castle was credited with many suitors, and her statement that she did not mean to marry again was not taken seriously by the friends for that reason. She had tried to keep the marriage a secret and continued her denials until it was discovered by reporters at the Marriage License Bureau.

Mrs. Castle gave her name as Irene Blythe and her age as twenty-five at the License Bureau. She gave her birthplace as New Rochelle. Capt. Treman gave his age as thirty and his occupation as business.

The famous dancer was dressed in a dark suit and wore a velvet cape lined with white satin and the daintiest of little hats edged with white lace.

The gift of the bridegroom's father was the family home on Cayuga Heights, Ithaca. Capt. Treman gave the bride a string of 435 matched pearls. Mrs. Castle explained the secrecy by saying that people might think she was seeking to get publicity.

"Romance?" she said. "Well, he didn't save my life. It's just like the other ninety-nine marriages. Well, anyhow, I didn't want everybody to know my innermost thoughts and desires."

Laughing merrily with Capt. Treman, the bride put her hand over her mouth, declaring she had already said more than she had intended. The honeymoon will be spent in the Adirondacks, where Mrs. Treman is posing for the movies, and Capt. Treman has a hunting lodge.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Physicians Prescribe Castoria.

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: 1st, The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; 2nd, That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; 3rd, It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for castor oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any opium, morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a medical journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—andour readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Lives In Bathtub To Cure Spinal Wound

American Army Lieutenant Partly Paralysed Improves Under Unique Treatment

Baltimore, April 18.—Lieut. Milton Mackall of this city was shot by a German sniper while on patrol duty, the bullet striking the spine and causing partial paralysis. He was brought to the Government Hospital at Fort McHenry about two weeks ago and his case taken under observation by Major A. P. Herring, head of the brain and nerve section.

It was thought, after a number of X-ray pictures had been taken, the paralysis might have been caused by the mental attitude of the patient or might be merely a functional disorder, so the bathtub treatment was instituted.

The wounded officer was placed in a tub of running water that is always kept at body heat. The tub itself is unique in appearance. To the casual visitor the patient appears to be on a cot. The patient is supported in the contrivance by air cushions under his back and knees.

Those who are watching the case say that Lieut. Mackall will eventually be well on the road to recovery. He receives his visitors regularly and is a popular patient among the men at the hospital.

Clemenceau Thinks It Is 'A Good Peace'

'I Have Done My Best,' He Tells Figaro Editor, Who Puts Hope In U.S. And Great Britain

Paris, May 5.—"I have done my best. I think it is a good peace."

This declaration was made to the editor of the Figaro last night by Premier Clemenceau. The editor adds that from the details he as been able to learn he is convinced that all France is weighing well the immense advantages she will gain from collaboration with Great Britain and the United States.

If it is a good peace, the editor continued, it is also a better one because it is an alliance with the two most powerful nations of the world.

Referring to the meeting of the French Cabinet yesterday, the editor says that after the peace terms were read by Captain Andre Tardieu a speech was made by Premier Clemenceau.

Premier Clemenceau expressed the hope that Italy in the end would return to the side of the Allies. The editor of the Figaro says that the Premier gave the Cabinet Council all the details of the efforts being made to bring the Italian delegates back to Paris.

Peking University Dean Made Prisoner By Police

Ch'en To-hsiu Arrested For Issuing Circular Demanding Radical Action By People

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking, June 12.—Ch'en To-hsiu, until recently Dean of the College of Letters of the Peking Government University, was arrested at the New World, an amusement resort outside of Chienmen, at ten o'clock last evening on the charge of circulating incendiary literature. He was at once taken to the Court of Procurate, where he is now detained. The police refuse all information regarding the matter, stating that it is a purely Chinese case and not the concern of the foreign press representatives.

Your correspondent has obtained a copy of the circular distributed by Mr. Chen, which was issued in both Chinese and English. The document presents five demands to be supported by the people and says that, if the Government will not accede to the demands, the people should take radical measures to obtain recognition for them. The demands are:

(1) That the Government shall not sign any agreement that gives to Japan China's economic rights in Shantung.

(2) That Hsu Shu-cheng, Tsao Ju-lin, Chang Chung-hsiang, Lu Chung-yu, Tuan Chi-kuen and Wang Hual-ching be dismissed from office and banished from Peking at once.

(3) That the Yamens of the Precautionary Forces and the Metropolitan Gendarmerie be abolished.

(4) That the Pao An or Citizens' Constabulary be forthwith organised by the citizens.

(5) That the citizens of China shall have absolute freedom of speech, publication and assembly.

Chen's house was searched immediately after his arrest, and it is stated that the police hoped to find in it literature connecting him and his friends with the student movement. Chen has always been an advocate of the new school of education and of the introduction of a written language adapted to the requirements of the Chinese people. In his magazine "La Jeunesse" he and his fellow editors have worked hard for the modernisation of Chinese literature and some of their utterances have been regarded in conservative quarters as highly radical in character.

The Anfu Club and the militarists, after trying in vain to associate themselves with the student movement and turn it to their own advantage, have of late been looking for some way of discrediting the movement. Their plan has been to get the student idea into bad odor with the people and then suppress it entirely. Thus it was to their advantage to arrest Chen, search his house and, from such papers as they found there, not only incriminate him and his friends but also attempt to prove that they were associated with the students and were filling them up with Bolshevist ideas dangerous to the welfare of the country.

Chen is not, however, a Bolshevist nor were the police able to uncover any Bolshevist literature at his house. Furthermore, Chen was not in direct touch with the movement of the students, his only connection with their activities being that of an editor who favored what they were doing and said so. The students have consistently kept out of politics ever since their national campaign was initiated and have rejected offers of support from the militarists, from the Chinputang and from General Feng Kuo-chang. They say that their only chance of success is to keep their movement national and independent, and that affiliation with any political group or groups would kill them. Hence they resent the imputation that there is anything of Bolshevism in their campaign. They are attacking a system which has always been rotten and which is bound to end in the ruin of China, and in its place they wish to set up an honest Government, forced upon the country by the national public opinion and maintained by that same opinion. That, they say, is the very reverse of Bolshevism.

KIRIN GOVERNOR RESIGNS

Peking, June 12.—The Civil Governor of Kirin Province has telegraphed his resignation to the Government, stating that the financial conditions in his province are so unsatisfactory and the Government has been so opposed to his measures for improving them that he can no longer continue in office. Last month the Governor made arrangements for a Japanese loan of Yen 5,000,000 with which to meet the expenses of the province, but was compelled by the Government to drop these plans on the ground of popular opposition to them.

He now informs the Government that his loan had the approval of the Kirin Tuchan, Meng En-yuan, and was endorsed by the provincial assembly, so that the blame for attempting to negotiate is not his alone. Furthermore, he cannot raise funds in any other way and doubts whether any one else could do so in his place.

Siberian Comforts Fund

A meeting of the Committee of the Siberian Comforts Fund was held at the British Consulate-General on Friday afternoon for the purpose of receiving the honorary treasurer's report on the administration of the Fund and considering the question of its continuation.

After hearing the report, which showed a balance in hand of about $2,800 after payment of all outstanding accounts, the Committee unanimously decided to continue the work of supplying British soldiers and sailors in Siberia with comforts as long as the British Expeditionary Force remained in that country but decided to make no appeal for further contributions to the Fund until the present balance was expended.

The honorary treasurer mentioned that besides supplying detachments on their way to and from Siberia with comforts and other necessaries, the Fund had recently, with the assistance of friends, furnished a complete athletic outfit to the British Military Mission engaged in taining the new Russian army.

Lady Fraser being obliged to resign the presidency of the Fund owing to her impending departure for England, the Committee decided to invite Mrs. H. H. Fox to take Lady Fraser's place during her absence from Shanghai.

At the conclusion of the meeting Lady Fraser was presented with a hand-bag and traveling clock as a token of the Committee's appreciation of her untiring efforts on behalf of the Fund.

How to protect your skin from the harmful effects of this climate

Before going out, protect your skin by an application of Pond's Vanishing Cream. Use it on your hands and neck as well as your face. Compare the fresh, soft condition in which it keeps your face with the drawn, dry feeling that generally follows exposure to the weather.

Based on an ingredient which doctors have used for years for its softening, beautifying qualities, Pond's Vanishing Cream is of the utmost value in overcoming all dryness and restoring the normal pliancy to the skin.

It is absolutely free from greasiness. You can use it throughout the day or you can put it on while dressing for the evening, with the knowledge that not a bit of it will remain on the skin to make it shiny. It has a wonderfully beautifying effect, and as a base for powder it is so effective that one powdering is sufficient for the whole evening. Try it the very next time you want your skin to look its very best.

Only the very freshest, purest ingredients are used in the preparation of Pond's Vanishing Cream. It will not grow hair or down on the skin. Get a jar or tube of it today at any drug or department store.

"MY FROAT AND MY TUMMY"

"My froat and my tummy do like these funny little medicines," said a small Cheshire boy of 3 to his mother, and the "funny little medicines" he spoke of were Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy.

These Tablets are popular with children because they are pleasant in taste and take the place of Castor Oil and all other nauseating, griping laxatives. They are equally harmless and helpful to the babe of 8 hours as to the child of 8 years and more.

Sickly babies—little ones who are troubled with their stomachs and bowels, whose teething is painful, digestion bad, who have worms, are feverish, or cannot sleep well—may be made healthy and happy by Baby's Own Tablets. Obtainable from chemists, or post free, 60 cents the vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

The League And China's Railways

(By J. E. Baker of Peking in The New Republic)

MOST plans for a solution of problems in China leave out of consideration the Chinese people, except as so much booty to be carried off by the successful bidder. Have they no claim to just treatment, no aspirations to be satisfied?

British and American opinion in China is highly incensed at the open disregard of Chinese susceptibilities by the Japanese, at the shameless importation of morphia, and the absolute helplessness of individuals who become victims of Japanese highhandedness. To date, no Japanese has ever been found guilty in a Japanese consular court in China. Naturally one fears association with a people whose courts declare that they can do no wrong. If there were no more to the question than the profits upon an occasional bill of goods, the market for some millions of railway equipment, it is conceivable that either British or American opinion would deem the game not worth the candle. But the issue becomes a moral issue, and upon moral issues both peoples have become highly sensitive.

The logic of the situation is so inexorable that a group of representatives of all the nationalities involved have been trying to evolve by discussion some means of putting the entire subject upon a basis so different that entirely new principles will govern. While the participants have only remote connections with official circles they have sufficient entre so that if they should be able to arrive at some agreement, their conclusions will have official consideration. The problem is principally to frame a program upon which the foreign interests can meet, and one which at the same time the Chinese will accept. There is no doubt in the mind of any one, that unless this can be accomplished, China will be practically dismembered. But Chinese racial pride is such that it prefers a national death by force, rather than a national humiliation, to which it agrees. Today China is too weak to help herself. Yet she refuses international charity. How to form a committee of relief out of elements which mutually consider each other pickpockets has been a problem.

So far, there is practical agreement upon the following principles:

One, that China must be developed rapidly in an industrial sense in order to satisfy the foreign demands of trade, and in order to strengthen herself sufficiently to restore stability in the Far East.

Two, that development can be accomplished more rapidly by enlisting the full co-operation of the Chinese than by actual control of the territory.

Three, that co-operation of the Chinese can be secured only by making it plain that use of foreign capital, machinery, and organisation will serve to bind China together rather than to alienate portions of her territory.

Four, that foreign investments are not secure under Chinese management, due to lack of experience and skill on the part of the Chinese in the use of large scale organisation.

It is accordingly proposed to abolish once and for all every "sphere of influence." In practical terms, this can be accomplished by a combination of all railways into something approaching a national system. Hitherto it has been the practice to associate the money lender with the Chinese official in the management of lines built out of foreign capital. It is now proposed to put all of these undertakings under one board, to be composed of one representative from each interested nation. In order to prevent this board from perpetuating itself to the exclusion of Chinese interests, it is proposed to increase the Chinese representation as rapidly as the Chinese investment increases, either from actual subscription, additions to property from surplus, or repayment of funded debt. It is proposed that this board shall assume all the obligations of present lines, and secure funds for future construction by bond issues based upon the credit of the combined lines. In order to make the consolidation actual in a commercial sense, it is planned to provide a technical organisation subordinated through a chairman who should be official secretary of the board. This technical organisation would be charged with the establishment of standards of construction and maintenance, specifications for rolling stock and other materials, purchases, general accounts, through traffic, and all matters dealing with the co-ordination of the several individual lines. It is proposed that all construction be let to the lowest satisfactory bidder, and all purchases of materials be by open tenders, all without respect to nationality.

In the operation of the individual lines, it will be necessary to localise to some extent the different nationalities. In a way this seems to leave the "sphere of influence" about where it is now. But if standards be the same, if accounts be subject to the same audit, if rate schedules be subject to the same review throughout China, national discriminations will be reduced to a minimum. In addition, it appears practicable to place among subordinate personnel upon each line appointees of diverse nationalities who are able to speak the language of the higher officials. There are any number of English-speaking Japanese, Japanese-speaking English and Americans, French and Russians who would be available for such purposes.

There would be practically no difficulty in securing an agreement of all parties if this program were to be confined to lines yet to be built. But if the program stops there, the "sphere of influence" remains. Financing the new lines becomes much more difficult and expensive, for it will cut off a margin of $20,000,000 annual profit on the government railways from the credit of the new lines. In addition it will place the new lines at a very great disadvantage in their approach to terminals, division of rates, and in the planning of routes. Chinese interests, however, will object to the merging of the strictly government lines with the new ones to be constructed; for it will seem to the Chinese that they are surrendering to the complete control of a foreign majority lines over which they themselves now have complete control. Any one who is familiar with Chinese opinion knows how sensitive it is upon this point. Hence something must be added to the program in order to make it appeal to the Chinese.

It therefore seems necessary to bring into the scheme the lines now under purely foreign control so that the sovereignty of the outlying occupied territories is unequivocably guaranteed to China. This means that the Chinese Eastern, the South Manchurian, the Shantung, and the Yunnan lines must in some way either be merged with the government system, or at least be brought under some degree of supervision. This is a difficult problem. While some of these lines are considered as controlled primarily by the government, their securities are quite widely distributed. The opportunity which such a condition offers for obstructionist tactics is obvious. It is hoped that the active interest of the foreign governments involved can be enlisted.

The most delicate point, of course, is the South Manchurian line. Japan identifies her interest in that line with national patriotism. She fought Russia for it. It was bought with her blood. To be sure no one proposes that it should be confiscated. But even a sale would seem to her like the sale of her soldiers' lives. Yet what did Japan's war with Russia really settle? Not the title to Manchuria. That was, and is, China's. At the conclusion of the war, Japan agreed with Russia to pursue no political ends there. Even granting that such an agreement was only a diplomatic gesture, the fact remains that by her victory over Russia, Japan did not establish a claim to the exploitation of Manchuria.

The hope of securing the support of Japan is not as vain as it may seem at first. Japan's attitude toward Manchuria, indeed toward all China, is premised upon a simple but compelling fact. Every year the population of Japan increases 600,000. Her arable acres are relatively few. Intensive agriculture has done all it can. And people are still hungry. Japanese do not emigrate except to countries with a higher economic level. There is none of the pioneer instinct in their makeup. For thousands of years they have remained in Japan. Except for a few merchants, professional men and government representatives, they do not go either to Formosa or Korea, over which Japan has jurisdiction, nor to Manchuria, over which she has de facto control. Thus Japan must embark upon manufacture as a means of buying food for her people.

But Japan has none of that iron which is so fundamental to modern industry. The markets of the world are already well occupied. Therefore she turns to China both as a source of raw materials and as a field within which to develop a market. Up to the past three months, there seemed no way to secure either materials or market in China other than to occupy the country in such a manner as to introduce one's own organisation. The alliance between the military party, commercialism, and the hungry population was the most natural thing in the world. It will not be strange if the mental habit of this alliance will be hard to break. Food, profits and patriotism make a combination which makes difficult a really intelligent revision of Chino-Japanese relationships.

However, there has been a party in Japan which has for a long time pointed out that the real interests of Japan lie in the development of the Chinese people, that an increase in the purchasing power to the Chinese coolie is essential to the increase of Japanese trade with China, and that military aggression is working in the wrong direction. This party now has its opportunity. It is likely that of all the nations which will profit from the plan sketched out here, Japan's gain will be first and most substantial.

It must be remembered, too, that the military party in Japan is not yet ready to challenge the western Powers—if that step be necessary to carry out its program. While the Japanese army is large and its valor undoubted, the progress made in the art of war during the past four years finds Japan unprepared. She is woefully weak in aviation. She is short of submarines, and will have to build them. In the use of gas and high explosives she must acquire skill and the means of manufacture. But most of all she is short of steel without which modern warfare is impossible. This was clearly shown by her negotiations following the American embargo of a year ago. Japan, to be sure, is active in her efforts to make good these deficiencies. Scarcely a week passes without the report of a new contract governing the opening or developing of a Chinese mine, and invariably one clause of the contract provides that the entire output shall be sold to Japanese merchants. When a sufficient supply of ore is moving regularly over seas to Japan, then it is more possible that we shall find the line of fringing islands off the China coast fully fortified, the passages between them mined, and an eviction notice posted upon every other foreign concern in North China. For it will then be relatively safe for Japan to challenge.

Until that time, however, military Japan will endeavor to temporise—to refrain from anything positive, to seem to yield, yet not actually to do so. That is the policy of military Japan. But there is also a Japan which loves truth and peace. That Japan has been forced into the background for over a generation by those who taught that "Might is right" and that "The greatest sin is weakness." The teachers themselves have gone, but their disciples remain. Those who would help the real Japan, who would like to see the Japanese people too freed from militarism, will urge that Japan make up her mind to join England, France and America in the co-operative development of China primarily for the Chinese.

Trysting

(From the Sydney Bulletin, New South Wales)

They dug his grave in France,
But his bones are all that keep in it;
He heard a coachwhip calling
In the she-oaks by the bend;
They dug it deep and wide enough—
There's half this section sleep in it.
The night wind crooned above him,
And it called him like a friend.

They laid him down to sleep,
But he could not take the rest of it!
He heard the stubble crackle
And he smelt the drift of smoke.
Oh, harvest-tide and ploughing-time,
He had to state the best of it,
And sweet the strengh of oil is
When you've learned to love the joke!

They dug his grave in France,
But Death could not keep a hold of him;
His youth was ripe for mating
And its joys were sweet to miss;
And all that's leal to love in him,
Aye, all that's best and bold of him,
Is waiting at the sliprails
For a lass he used to kiss.

A Protest From Nanking

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—Your correspondent in Nanking, who wrote something about China Institute a few days ago has given us much dissatisfaction. This dissatisfaction was not caused by the statement that Chief of Police Wang came to our institute to apologise for the bad deeds done by his men, for this statement was true. The only thing that we are now protesting are the two words "Dutch Subject." We dislike these two words, sir, ever since we were in Dutch India. It is true that most of us were born in either Dutch, British or other nations' colonies, but we are Chinese, and are proud of our own country.

Furthermore, let me tell you that the student who was beaten by the police is now over twenty years of age, and is therefore no more a little boy, as your correspondent reported. Again, he was beaten not at Peh Ming Chiau but at Fuh Tung Kai, a place at least five miles (Chinese) from Peh Ming Chiau.

Once more we say that we are not "Dutch Subjects," but we are Chinese.

We hope, sir, as soon as you receive this letter, you will then verify it to the public.

Thanking you for your kindness,
Yours cordially,
(OVERSEAS) CHINAN STUDENTS.
Nanking, June 15.

Sidelights On The Student Movement

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—The year 1919 witnesses the opening of a new era of intellectual awakening throughout China. This new era is marked by three main forces: democracy, education and industrialism. Democracy demands the expression of popular will to the Government through Students Federation, Chamber of Commerce, Educational Associations and various other organisations. Our popular will also wins the foreign sympathy and finds its expression to the foreign states through foreign organisations in China, such as American Chamber of Commerce, British Chamber of Commerce and the like. Such kind of co-operation is highly appreciated; but it would be more effective and lasting, if some of the Chinese honorary members are admitted in such organisations. Secondly, education dispels a dense cloud of ignorance through public lectures, distribution of notifications and other means of enlightenment. A large mass of people may be greatly enlightened by teaching new phonetic method in Chinese in various schools. Then the students in various schools can in turn teach village boys. This kind of social service should be made compulsory in school curriculum. Lastly comes the question of industrialism. Industrialism would in the end turn battleships into steam engines, and promote internationalism. Just at present we should encourage home industry. To meet the pressing need, we should organise a good commercial bank in each city, guaranteed by Chamber of Commerce in that district; raise a salvation fund to meet the emergency of the country or to return some political loans from foreign states, if need be; start what is called a Boston Store of native goods pure and simple.

All these means seems to be the important steps to be worked out by the people themselves.

In conclusion: It seems to me that the triumphant progress of democracy, education and industrialism would bring out the salvation of China and ensure the peace of the world.

T. C. SHEN.

The So-Called Western Returned Students' Union

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—THE CHINA PRESS of the 12th instant reported, "The Western Returned Students' Union was organised yesterday at a meeting of representatives of American, British, French, and other European returned students in Shanghai who gathered at the Y.M.C.A." "A provisional executive committee consisting of Dr. T. H. Lee, Dr. John Y. Lee, Dr. Fong Sec, Mr. Y. S. Tsao, and Mr. Alexander Ting were elected in the absence of a permanent board of officers."

Now, Sir, we should like to be told by what right a handful of men, mostly belonging to one particular widely-advertised set, arrogated to themselves the comprehensive name of the "Western Returned Students," and called a meeting without doing the ordinary courtesy of sending out circulars to all who were, and are, as much returned students as they. If it be pleaded in excuse that there was not much time for sending out hundreds of circulars, surely an advertisement could easily have been inserted in the papers. What right had they to summon to the meeting only certain persons, and to leave out a lot of others? These persons have of course a right to call as many grandmothers' meetings as they please, with the main object of making themselves exceedingly important, and of passing as many patriotic and self-aggrandising resolutions as they like; but the right is conditional on their making it clear who they really are. They have not the least right to give themselves the comprehensive name of the Western Returned Students, and to determine whom to summon and whom not to summon to a meeting. This sort of vainglorious procedure is, in principle, not a bit different from that of the Peking officials, who are vehemently accused of regarding themselves as The Nation and of treating the country, accordingly, like their own private property.

Again, the meeting was reported to be a meeting of representatives. Whose representatives were they, and who elected them to be representatives? They were, it would seem, even in a less degree representatives than the corrupt so-called M.P.'s of China. Are they indeed the very persons who have been so noisy about a clean government a representative government, the "democratisation" of China, and such like catching claptraps? One could scarcely believe they are, if one did not know that the country is rotten to the very core. Blest and thrice blest indeed would China be if Tsao Ju-lin, Chang Chung-hsiang and Lu Chung-yu were the only putrid persons in the country; for, in that case, things would soon be going on gloriously.

THE CHINA PRESS might perhaps, however, say that the word "representative" was used in another sense, and that what was meant was that they were representative returned students. But are they? They themselves may of course be under the delusion that they are, by virtue of their "fame" and their marvellous "scholarship"; but to incredulous pachyderms like ourselves, better proofs of their much-vaunted superiority are necessary than mere empty noise.

What has been said above about the unwarrantable name of the Western Returned Students which these people arrogated to themselves applies with even greater force to the World's Chinese Students' Federation. For who are the World's Chinese Student's Federation? Why, the same handful of men for all practical purposes. It would be only honesty to give the Federation another name, less imposing perhaps, but certainly more correct.

However, not to inflict upon you a long letter, I need only say in conclusion that if certain Shanghai patriots rant about the avarice and rapacity of a set of officials, it is not necessary for them to go so far as Peking or Canton. The same phenomenon, on a smaller scale indeed, but none the less loathsome, may be seen in Shanghai. Just walk round to Nanyang College, Futan "University," the Nanyang Railway and Mining College, and a few other schools, and you may see patriotic fellows who worry about the salvation of China, each with two, three, four, perhaps more, posts. The presumption is that these fellows are excellent teachers, and that, therefore, it is to the advantage of the country that they should teach as many youngsters as possible. But the presumption, like other presumptions, may be rebutted; and is, in fact, rebutted by the "ungrateful" youngsters themselves. Are, then, the Peking officials the only "rotters" who monopolise things in their greed and rapacity?

One word of sincere advice to the students. Since they have got what they wanted, let them dissolve their Union at once. We have enough "huis" and "tangs" in this country in all conscience. The only way really to save the country is for every Chinese to try to be a better man, and to strongly discountenance deceit and craftiness, in domestic affairs at any rate. It is the actual cleansing of the heart that is essential, not the mere profession of a particular religion.

Thanking you in anticipation,
I am,
Yours, etc.,
A RETURNED STUDENT.
Shanghai, June 13, 1919.

Yellow And Black Are The Wasp's Color Favorites

Some interesting results of investigations into the habits of wasps have been given by Dr. Harold Wager before the Linnean Society in a lecture on "The Color Sense of Wasps."

Dr. Wager made his experiments by observing wasps flying toward and setting upon pieces of sugar placed upon sheets of colored paper. The experiments show that in seeking their food wasps (Vespa vulgaris) are guided by their social instinct, their remembrance of locality, and their power to distinguish conspicuous colors or color contrasts. They are probably also guided by smell, but no experiments were made to test this.

Under the conditions of the experiments wasps were attracted by the strong color contrasts of white sugar on yellow, red or black paper, and less strongly by the weaker color contrasts of white sugar on blue or white paper. They showed very little discrimination among the various colors, but, so far as could be judged, when they had a more or less free choice, untrammelled by their stronger instincts, they flew to the colors in the following order—yellow, black, red, blue and white.

The wasps in the experiments showed a very pronounced tendency to come back always to the exact place where they had previously obtained sugar, irrespective of any color that might happen to be there. When the sugar was removed only a short distance away they were much puzzled, and only after flying about for some time were they able to discover it in its new place.

Their social instincts were clearly indicated by the fact that they were always more strongly attracted by other wasps than by place or color. This attraction for other wasps was so strong that they would frequently fly first to a piece of sugar surrounded by dead wasps in preference to other pieces of sugar in the immediate neighborhood, which were free of wasps. They very rarely settled, however, on a piece of sugar surrounded by dead wasps.—London Times.

Lessons For The Photographer In The Movie Film

The enormous technical advances made in the art of photography in recent years are nowhere seen more strikingly than in the moving picture. Indeed, the moving picture could not exist without those advances, even if its principles and the way to utilise them were well understood. Imagine trying to explain the moving picture to the French savants who investigated Daguerre's discovery and reported that it could never be used for portraiture because an exposure of an hour or so was necessary! And photography has advanced in many other respects besides the cutting down of the exposure to a fraction of a second. A. Lockett, writing in The British Journal of Photography, tells the ordinary portrait or commercial photographer that he might very profitably pay more attention to the technical hints deducible from motion films. Many valuable lessons, he says, may be learned in this way. Our quotations are from an abstract in The Scientific American Supplement (New York, April 5), where we read:

What first strikes one when viewing film-pictures on the screen is their superb definition, after such an enormous degree of enlargement. The ratio is approximately nine times as great as an announcement or title lantern-slide projected to the same size, yet in how many cases is the latter noticed to be inferior in definition to the motion film. This fact is the more remarkable when it is remembered tat the positive cinematograph film is printed by contact from the negative, the two being run rapidly past an exposure aperture, usually with intermittent stoppages, while the lantern-slides are, sometimes at least, made by reduction. It speaks volumes for the delicate precision and exactitude of the cinema-printer mechanism, and for the patient care bestowed on every stage of the work. Would that the same standard of rigidity and accuracy obtained in ordinary photographic apparatus, and that all camera craftsmen were as free from slipshod ways!

The reasons for the generally better definition of cinema films as compared with lantern-slides will repay inquiry. Undoubtedly the chief is the very short focus of the taking lens used on the motion-picture camera, generally between 2 and 3 inches. Not only does the shorter focus mean far greater depth of definition, but it is often overlooked that the latter is ako equivalent to a smaller circle of least confusion. The same moral is constantly being discovered by owners of vest-pocket cameras—namely, that the tiny negative made with a good-class lens of short focus will actually enlarge further and give better results than a bigger negative obtained in a larger camera with a relatively long-focus lens.

Yet another point is that the lantern slide, as often as not, is made from a negative secured with a rapid rectilinear lens, while the cinematograph-taking lens is almost always an anastigmat. It has of late been confidently affirmed by some workers that one lens will, in practise, equal the performance of the other. To such a comparative test, by making transparencies and projecting to a fair size on the screen, is recommended as a clear proof to the contrary. To be strictly just, it must be remembered that the cinema projection objective is usually of a higher grade than that employed for showing lantern slides; but given good focusing, this should not much affect the comparison.

A further fact which will bear pondering over is the excellent perspective and absence of what is conveniently, but incorrectly, called distortion in the majority of cinema films. Studio photographers are apt to grumble when condemned to use a lens of say, from 4 to 6 inches focus in a small space; yet the cinematographer gets admirable portraits with still shorter foci. The explanation, of course, is the much smaller picture, for even with a 2-inch lens the focus is nearly twice the diagonal of the film image. Here is a self-evident and serviceable hint for the man who can not obtain a decent-size studio—to use a very short-focus lens, take only small negatives and enlarge from them instead of printing by contact. One might do worse than actually employ a motion-picture camera for the purpose.

One Day's Chances Of Being Infected

Capt. George T. Palmer of the Sanitary Corps, U. S. A., kept record for one day of every chance he had of acquiring an infection of any sort, and he sends to Science a detailed account showing that there were 119 such occasions. These are summed up as follows:

|---|---|
| Touching hands to articles that were or might have been touched by others immediately before | 87 |
| Shaking hands | 5 |
| Carrying to mouth articles possibly infected by others | 17 |
| Hand brought in contact with mouth directly | 2 |
| Hand brought in contact with nose indirectly through handkerchief | 7 |
| Chances of acquiring infection through laughing of others | 1 |

There were 92 opportunities for infecting the hands directly with other hands or with articles just handled by others. Mere infection of the hands is of course immaterial. It is the carrying of the infected hand to the mouth or nose which constitutes the danger.

This represents the experience of one to whom keeping hands out of the mouth is second nature. But what of the person who is unconscious of the hand to mouth habit?

Capt. Palmer draws three conclusions from the experience:

I. That we should use handkerchiefs one side of which is conspicuously colored or marked so that we may always apply the hands to one side, reserving the other side for the nose. This will protect our own nose from our hands and help to prevent the infection of our hands.

II. That we should abandon the universal practice of shaking hands, substituting some other less intimate method of salutation.

III. That we should encourage means which will lesson the opportunity for public restaurant employes to handle eating utensils.

American Legation News

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking, June 12.—Mrs. Paul S. Reinsch the wife of the American Minister to China, accompanied by her three children, left here last evening for Chinwangtao to catch the U. S. Transport Warren, which sails for Manila today. From Manila Mrs. Reinsch and her family will proceed by transport to Honolulu, where they will spend the Summer. Mrs. Reinsch will return to Peking in the Fall after visiting the United States, where her eldest daughter, Miss Claire Reinsch, is to enter a boarding school.

Other departures from the American Legation are Mrs. F. L. Belin and her son, who are leaving here en route for the United States tonight. They will be followed on Sunday by Mr. Belin, who is remaining behind to complete his examinations for a permanent post in the diplomatic service. Mr. Belin has been at the Legation for two years as special assistant to the Minister, and it is not, accordingly, expected that he will return to China after his permanent appointment to the service.

From the American Legation Guard Major and Mrs. R. H. Davis are leaving under orders for home next week. Major Davis has been stationed in Peking for over four years as Quartermaster to the post; he has been relieved by Major Horton, U. S. Marine Corps, who has recently done service in the West Indies.

Commander I. V. Gillis, U. S. N., who came back from civil life to become Naval Attache to the American Legation in the Spring of 1917, has tendered his resignation in order to return to business. Commander Gillis will be replaced by Commander Hutchens, U. S. N., who was Naval Attache in 1916 and 1917 and went home when the United States entered the war to take command of a flotilla of destroyers in the North Sea. Captain Hutchens is due in Peking early in August.

Major W. S. Drysdale, Military Attache to the American Legation since February, 1918, has been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel, with orders to remain at his present post.

Mr. J. Donald C. Rodgers, who came to Peking as Third Secretary of the American Legation in November, 1917, has been made a Secretary of Class III, with the rank of Second Secretary of the Legation.

Premier's Honors List Reduced To Minimum

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

London, June 7.—The Prime Minister's list of birthday honors does not include a single Peerage, Baronetcy or political award. It chiefly consists of rewards to civil servants. It is understood the list has been reduced to the minimum in view to the expected conclusion of Peace, which doubtless will be marked by fresh honors. There are twenty-six promotions and appointments to the Order of the Bath and twenty-six Knighthoods.

Recognition Of Omsk Not Yet Determined

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

Paris, June 12.—The Council of Four has replied to Admiral Koltchak. It is understood that the reply does not involve the date of recognition of his Government.

China Political Notes From Chinese Press

General Lu Yung-ting has severed relations with the Canton Government and Kwangsi troops are advancing on Canton. General Mo Yung-hsin has decided to resist the Kwangsi men by force, having ordered his forces at Shaoshing to prepare for fighting.

While the strike movement in the other cities is subsiding, Foochow began its strike Sunday when the chairman of the Chamber of Commerce of the city assaulted a student. This aroused the indignation of the merchants and a general walkout ensued.

The provinces are unanimously asking President Hsu Shih-chang to remain in office. General Lu Yung-ting has also done so by telegraph. President Hsu has agreed to remain temporarily. The speakers of the two houses have again returned him his letters of resignation. Generals Tsao K'un and Chang Tso-lin will arrive in Peking soon to urge President Hsu to remain.

Messrs. Chu Shu-mo and Sun Pao-chi are contesting for the premiership very energetically. There is a report that Mr. Wu Chi-sen, secretary to the President, will become Minister of the Interior and Chang Yuan-chi, will succeed Mr. Wu.

Mr. Fang Chu, one of the peace delegates, will again become Chief Secretary of the Cabinet and Mr. Wu Ting-chang, another peace delegate will assume the duties of the Vice-Minister of Finance. This indicates that when the peace conference is re-opended, the personnel of the delegation will have to be changed.

Mr. Liang Shih-yi is forming the Huahsing Club at Tientsin and members of the old Fungsheng Club are joining the new party in large numbers.
